FOREWORD

THE Mediator Dei Hymnal contains melodies which have been proved worthy from both the musical and the practical point of view by their firm establishment in common use. Some of these are in use today, while others have been the solid support of hymn singing in other days. Among these latter hymns there are many which have been hitherto crowded out of our more recent hymnals by the limitations of space and the normal process of replacing the old with the new and experimental. Even among these revived hymns, however, the practical limitations of format have obliged us to pass over with regrets certain hymns which would have expanded the volume beyond the intention and design of this hymnal. The variety of sources in itself makes one conscious of the large number of hymnals published since the middle of the seventeenth century. The Latin hymn-sources have been frequently translated, and the repertory of vernacular hymns has settled down to an almost universal list. In the course of time their melodies have undergone a variety of changes effected as attempts to make them appropriate to the spirit of their time and to their purpose.

A distinctive feature of the Mediator Dei Hymnal is the naming of the tunes and listing of their metric schemes. This practice is, unfortunately, all too rare in American hymn publications. It is hoped that other hymnals will in time adopt these names (they are free to do so) in order that unity in this regard will prevail in future years. Naming the tunes in a uniform manner makes the identification of these tunes a simple matter, and a knowledge of the meter enables one to apply an alternate melodic setting to a given text when this seems to be called for. The choice of names given here is proposed as a first classification for use in all future hymn collections.

The accompaniment edition is adapted to the abilities of the less experienced organist.

Efforts have been made to trace any copyright material, and oversights will be rectified in future editions. We wish to express our appreciation to McLaughlin & Reilly Co. (Alverno Hymnal), the Catholic Choirmasters Guild of Buffalo, N. Y. (Cantate Domino), J. Meridith Tatton (Songs of Syon) for the use of copyrighted material, and to the Brothers of the Christian Schools for selections from the La Salle Hymnal. To the many others who offered their suggestions and encouragement, we extend our earnest thanks.

Hymn singing is sung prayer, and its spiritual value should not be overlooked. Neither must it be forgotten that an indulgence is attached to this pious exercise. Popes Pius VII and Pius IX, by rescripts dated June 1817 and April 1858 respectively, have granted partial indulgences of one year and one hundred days to all the faithful who sing hymns piously in a church or oratory, and to those who teach them to sing, provided that these hymns are approved by ecclesiastical authority. A plenary indulgence may be gained once a month under the usual conditions.

It is hoped that the Mediator Dei Hymnal will play its part in preserving and continuing the use of many of these melodies. If these tunes are learned by students of all ages they may gradually develop a tradition which will be a source of inspiration to the Church as a whole in later years.

WE'VE BEEN TOLD AMAZING STORIES by priests who have raised funds for 500 new pew books in less than 24 hours ... but your parish cannot help if they don't see with their own eyes the high quality of the books. So let us help you! We can provide large, lovely, custom posters for you, based on the pictures you choose! Go to CCWATERSHED.ORG, click on "Contact Us" (upper right), and ask about the "custom posters."
